Step 1 : Finalizing Your Admission

Contact your institution's registrar to send you all supporting documentation, online pre-enrollment details and term start dates.

Book your tickets.

Try your best to avoid arriving in Clermont-Ferrand on a Sunday, a public holiday or after 7 pm. Many shops are closed at these times and public transportation less frequent. You will find the list of all public French holidays on this site: www.service-public.fr/particuliers/vosdroits/F2405

Step 2 : Planning Your Budget

Monthly Expenses

Housing: €200 – 600, depending on the type of housing, plus utilities (water, electricity, heating, insurance, etc.).

Food: around €200.

Transportation: bus/tram pass < 26 years: €27, reduced fares available (see section "Transportation").

Others: Internet subscription (€20-30), mobile phone plan (€5-60), healthcare, materials, books, leisure, etc.

Arrival Expenses

Housing deposit (refunded on leaving your rental unit, if it is in good condition), agency fees, enrollment fees, student and campus life contribution, etc.

There are many extra costs when you first arrive, possibly in excess of €1000.

Financing your stay

Scholarships

French government scholarships: consult the cultural services department of the French embassy or consulate in your home country.

The Erasmus+ program offers grants for international exchanges between universities within the European Union.

Scholarships from your home government: consult the local authorities responsible for education in your country.

Scholarships from international bodies or non-governmental organisms, associations or private foundations.

The Campus Bourses program : <http://campusbourses.campusfrance.org/fria/bourse/#/catalog>

Work

Non-EU students can work part-time up to 964 hours per annum, or 60% of the legal annual duration of a work year in France (there are exceptions to this rule depending on the type of visa).

Algerian students and students with work-study, professional training or ATER contracts, can request a provisional work permit online: www.workinfrance.beta.gouv.fr

To find work that suits your studies www.jobaviz.fr, www.info-jeunes.net,... European students have the same rights as French workers. The maximum legal working time in France is 35 hours.

Housing Aid

Housing aid is subject to certain conditions, with the amount of aid established according to the rent, housing type, size and personal income. After signing of the tenancy agreement, you can apply online: www.caf.fr (Family Allowance Fund)

Step 3 : Finding a Place to Live

Public University Residences: CROUS

This is by far the cheapest type of housing. However, only a limited number of rooms are available and priority is given to the French scholarship recipients.

Remember, requesting housing from CROUS does not guarantee you a room!

If you are studying in France as part of a university exchange program : The international relations office of your host establishment coordinates all housing requests, managing your requests via the CROUS office.

You are studying in France as a private individual (Freemover): You will have to register on the national student portal: "www.messervices.etudiant.gouv.fr" and search for available accommodation on : "<https://trouverunlogement.lescrous.fr/>" starting in July. Any questions? logement@crous-clermont.fr

You are coming for a short stay (3 months or less) or for an internship: You can look for temporary housing online at: <https://trouverunlogement.lescrous.fr/> Please note that this service is not available for rentals between September and November.

Renting in the Private Sector

There is a much wider choice of rental units in the private sector. However, it can be difficult for international students to find housing from abroad. In general, it is easier in such cases to book temporary accommodation for a few weeks and then search for a rental unit once you have arrived.

The National Student Housing Portal LoKaviZ:

This website catalogs the availability of rental units in the private sector, flat-shares and host family accommodation. You will have to register to view listings and contact details. www.lokaviz.fr

Real Estate Agencies: Estate agents offer a wide range of housing options and act as an intermediary between landlords and tenants for the duration of the lease; however, this is a paid service (agency fees).

With the Agence Régionale de l'Orientation based in Clermont-Ferrand: which publishes private listings for apartments, flat-shares or host family housing. www.info-jeunes.net

Direct rental agreements: Some landlords rent their properties directly. In such cases there are no agency fees. However, this solution does not include the same legal framework or guarantees as a real estate agency www.leboncoin.fr, www.seloger.fr, etc.

Private Student Residences: There are many private student residences in Clermont-Ferrand which have studios or small furnished apartments. They generally offer an "all-inclusive" packages (insurance, electricity, internet, etc.).

For more information :
www.info-jeunes.net/trouver-son-logement
www.morningcroissant.com/vrbo/clermont-ferrand

Finding a Guarantor

French law protects tenants from expulsion. Consequently, nearly all landlords require the tenant to have a guarantor for the payment of rent.

A guarantor must be a French resident who is willing to pay your rent should you be unable to pay it yourself.

For international students who are unable to find a guarantor in France, there are other solutions, in particular with Visale: www.visale.fr

Step 4 : Getting Your visa

With the exception of citizens of the European Economic Area, Monaco, Andorra and Switzerland, a visa is required to enter and study in mainland France.

Requesting a Student Visa

Students from countries with the 'Études en France' procedure: are advised to follow the visa request guide which is available on the Campus France website: www.campusfrance.org/fr/page/a-partir-dun-pays-a-procedure-cef

Students from countries without the 'Études en France' procedure : must consult the embassy website in their home country, then follow the student visa request procedure.

The length of this process can vary according to the country and time of the request, and can take up to several weeks. Therefore, it is advisable to start the process early.

Step 5 : Health Insurance

European (EU/EEA) or Swiss Nationals: To be exempt from having to register for French Social Security system, you must hold a European Health Insurance Card on your arrival in France. You can obtain one from the health insurance system in your home country. The card must be valid for the entire duration of your stay in France.

Other nationalities: Students must register for the health insurance system by contacting CPAM, the health insurance provider in France:
www.etudiant-etranger.ameli.fr

We advise you to take out a travel health insurance plan prior to leaving to cover the first month of your stay.

Step 11 : Accommodation

Finding A Place to Live

Regularly check online advertisements, visit real estate agencies and ask other students for advice.

More units may come available in the CROUS residences from November.

<https://trouverunlogement.lescrous.fr>

www.info-jeunes.net,

www.logement-jeunes.unhaj.org

www.lokaviz.fr

Find out useful information about renting in France (research, visits, inventory of fixtures, rental contract, removals, assistance, formalities...):

www.welcometofrance.com/en/fiche/housing

Insuring Your Accommodation

All rental units must be insured against rental risks (fire, water damage, etc.)

However, you should be aware that this insurance does not necessarily cover everything inside your unit (in case of a burglary, for instance). To cover such cases, you should take out a multi-risk home insurance policy (remember to keep receipts for your possessions).

Banks, student health care plans and insurance companies all offer rental and multi-risk liability insurance policies: www.smerra.fr, www.lmde.fr, etc.

Utility Contracts : Water, Electricity, Gas, Internet and Mobile Phone

When you move into your accommodation, you will have to create accounts and sign contracts for the water and electricity supplies, even if the unit already has water and electricity.

If you are staying in university housing, you may be able to skip these steps, as water, electricity and Internet access are often included in the rent.

Step 12 : Getting Liability Insurance

Along with health insurance and rental risks, this is the third type of compulsory insurance in France. It covers any harm that you may inadvertently cause to others. You must show proof of this insurance to finalize your enrollment at the institution of higher education. Banks, student health plans (LMDE or SMERRA) and insurance companies all offer liability insurance contracts. It is often included in rental insurance policies!

Step 13 : Finalizing Your Enrollment

On arrival in France, you must confirm your enrollment with the registrar of your institution to obtain your student card. At this time, you will also pay any outstanding enrollment fees as well as the student and campus life contribution fee (<https://cvec.etudiant.gouv.fr/>). Please refer to the instructions given in your admission letter for information on the procedure and the list of documents to bring.

The next step is to enroll in your study program (choice of courses, options, exam schedule). This should be done directly with your UFR (Unité de Formation et de Recherche : Training and Research Unit) or with your school.

Step 14 : Opening a Bank Account

Choose a bank and arrange a meeting with an advisor. Prepare your documents.

Typically, you will need to bring :

- Identification (passport with visa).
- Recent proof of address with your name clearly indicated (lease or rental contract, university residence contract, rent receipt, electricity bill, etc.).
- Student card.

While it is usually free to open a bank account, some services require payment (bank card, money transfers, overdraft approval, etc.).

Remember to compare bank offers and be informed!

Step 15 : Validating Your Visa

As soon as you arrive in France, you must validate your visa. The process is entirely digital: you can do everything remotely, at home, on your computer. You MUST validate your visa within 3 months of arriving in France at the very latest.

You must validate your VLS-TS online:

<https://administration-etrangers-en-france.interieur.gouv.fr>

If your application is complete, you must pay a residence tax (using a revenue stamp available online). You will then receive an e-mail with the certificate of validity for your visa. This must be kept safe. In conjunction with this certificate, your visa is a valid residence permit.

OFII - Office Français de l'Immigration et de l'Intégration

04 73 98 61 36

If you have any questions:
08 06 00 16 20 or dgef-support@interieur.gouv.fr

Step 16 : Requesting Your First Residence Permit

This process only concerns:

- students with a C-Concours visa who have passed their entrance exam and wish to remain in France in order to further their studies,
- students with a visa stating “carte de séjour à solliciter dans les deux mois suivant l'arrivée” (i.e. request a residence card within two months of arrival),
- minors who have reached the age of civil majority.

On arrival in France you can contact the Espace d'Accueil Étudiants for guidance with this procedure: www.crous-clermont.fr, then “Espace d'Accueil Étudiants” section.

Step 17 : Renewing Your Residence Permit

If your studies last for more than one year, you will be required to renew your residence permit 2 months before its expiry.

If your visa ends during the summer, you will first have to request a “récépissé d’été”. This is a temporary document that extends your VTS visa during the summer so that you can renew your visa for the new academic year in September.

For more information concerning residence permit renewals, refer to the Espace d’Accueil Étudiants: CROUS, 30, rue Étienne Dolet, www.crous-clermont.fr, then “Espace d’Accueil Étudiants” section.

Step 18 : Registering for Health Insurance

European (EU/EEA) or Swiss citizens: If you have a European Health Insurance card (EHIC or CEAM in French) that is valid for the whole university year, you do not need to register for health insurance with the French Social Security system. You can send requests for reimbursement directly to the international relations service of the local CPAM office, attaching a photocopy of your EHIC.

Other Nationalities: Register online: www.etudiant-etranger.ameli.fr

Documents to attach to your application in electronic format:

- Passport
- Visa and OFII certificate
- Birth certificate
- Proof of enrollment (school certificate)
- RIB (relevé d'identité bancaire) with your French bank account details.

While this is certainly recommended, it is not obligatory. Take a moment to consider the various offers.

Student health care plans: www.smerra.fr & www.lmde.fr

Health care guide : <http://inpes.santepubliquefrance.fr>

Step 19 : Asking for Housing Aid

For any stay longer than 3 months, students can apply for a housing aid (known as ‘allocation’) paid by the CAF (Family Allowance Fund).

This allowance is calculated according to the type of housing, rent, income and the student’s personal status.

All requests may be made online on CAF website: www.caf.fr

Follow the CAF guide, which details the whole process of applying for student housing aid. You can then track your application using the CAF smartphone app.

If the request is accepted, a monthly allowance will be paid starting on the 2nd month of residence.

Good to know

If you have a visa that states “dispense temporaire de carte de séjour” (i.e. Temporary exemption from residence permit), you do not qualify for housing aid.

Step 20 : Learning French at Fleura (French language center)

Courses are given throughout the academic year. There are several programs, according to your needs.

Individuals from overseas, whether they are enrolled at an institution of higher education or not, have several possibilities to attend courses:

- Daytime Courses: for individuals with time to take lessons during the daytime (4 hrs. minimum per week).
- Evening Courses: for individuals whose activities (professional, academic) do not allow them to take daytime lessons (50 hrs. course with 4 hrs./week).

You would like to obtain an internationally recognized language certificate:

Whether or not you take lessons at the Fleura Language Center, you can take a DELF - DALF certificate exam (€90 to €130 depending on the level). There are also preparatory courses for a fee of €55 or €88 depending on the level.

You would like to take a diploma course/You would like to pursue studies at a French university:

The Diplôme Universitaire d'Études Françaises (DUEF levels A1, A2, B1, B2, C1) is intended for overseas students who wish to continue their university-level studies in France. Depending on the level of DUEF, the program may be between 222 and 260 course hours per semester. The fee is €1500 per semester.

The Diplôme Universitaire de Langue Française et de Spécialité (DULFS), is intended for overseas students with a minimum B1 level who wish to integrate a program at UCA. Depending on the specialization, the program may be between 500 and 540 course hours per year for a fee of €4500 or €5000 per annum.
